Dear Norfolk Academy Family,

I write to share good news regarding the coronavirus situation that was the subject of yesterday’s email. The Upper School family, concerned about exposure to a person who was diagnosed with the coronavirus, has tested negative. The family has notified us of those results, and indicated that they will follow the CDC’s recommended 14-day self-quarantine period, as an extra precaution. We have no indication that any other family or student has had exposure to, or a confirmed diagnosis of, COVID-19.

We will proceed with the plan outlined in the previous email: Our faculty will meet on Monday, March 16, in order to prepare for distance learning.

The situation in Hampton Roads, Virginia, and the nation continues to evolve rapidly, as you all know. I will contact you in the days ahead to outline the plan for Tuesday and beyond.

Sincerely,

Dennis G. Manning
Headmaster
